

Situations like this are why it is clear we need to have greater access for more people to the airwaves. Money and power should not be enough to turn public airwaves into vehicles for private causes.